

SWIMMING WITH WHALE SHARKS

A MORNING WITH GENTLE GIANTS

In the warm, crystal-clear waters just minutes from La Paz lies one of the most intact ecosystems in the world. Get ready to be inspired! Near El Mogote's sand spit, the outer bay serves as a nursery and here you will be able to observe and swim with the largest living nonmammalian vertebrate, literally the biggest fish in the ocean. Whale sharks (Rhincodon typus), are slow-moving, filter-feeding carpet sharks that reach a length of 62 ft / 19 meters and may exceed the life span of human beings.

Join us on a half-day journey to experience these gentle giants as they feed on plankton and enjoy a good cleaning by fish and remora along their ventral sides, hovering and filtering plankton for hours.

Your expert naturalist guide and boat captain have received special training and are certified to manage responsible visits that respect the habitat and feeding patterns of the animals.
