There will be a Campo Cortez sign with a yellow caution tape "bow" tied to it saying 11 km (6 miles) and then again at 10 km.

Depending on the height of high-tide, there may be a stretch where water covers the road. There are white pvc posts that have been put in to guide you – stay between them if there is a high-tide pool of water in the salt flats. They will keep you on more solid ground.

Finally you will see a sign that says 9Vb ed'9dgZo' ~ b i %Vgdl id i] Z'g^] i. Stay straight. Right away you will see a sign for Campo Ramon. You are almost there!

Before you start the drive check your spare tire, fluids etc. If your car breaks down (on the hwy) don't panic Every two hours there's a mechanic's patrol whose job is to help out stranded tourists , they are called "The Green Angels" (their truck is green) and they are sponsored by the Mexican government.
